She arrives needing stability.

She doesn't lack information.
She needs to know what to do next.

LIFE AT A CROSSROADS

“Estoy pasando por una encrucijada de vida, no tengo motivación, ni dirección, no se que hacer y me siento abrumada.”

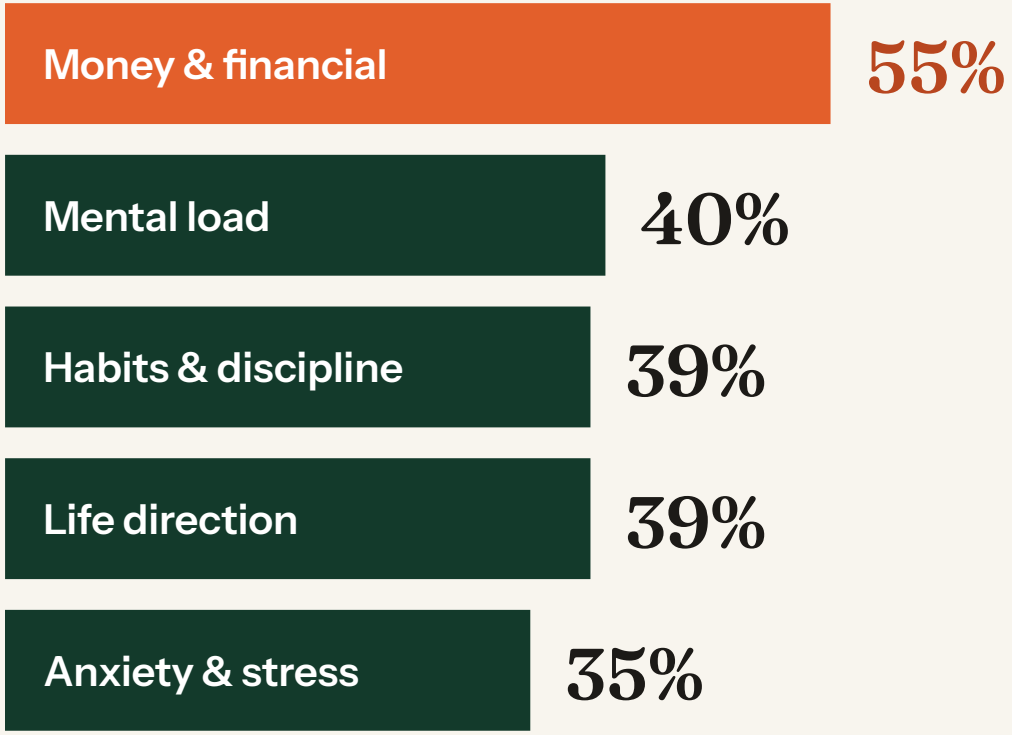

FAMILY RESPONSIBILITY

“Aceptando la enfermedad de mi mamá, sentirme sola pensando que todo me tocaba a mí y miedo al futuro”

Open responses from Elara's target community, May 2026. Original Spanish.

4,610

women told us what's weighing on them.

Money is the entry point. The need is broader.

May 2026 open survey, n = 4,610; up to 3 challenges each. Share of respondents. Target-community research, not a representative study.

She doesn't need more content. She needs somewhere to go.

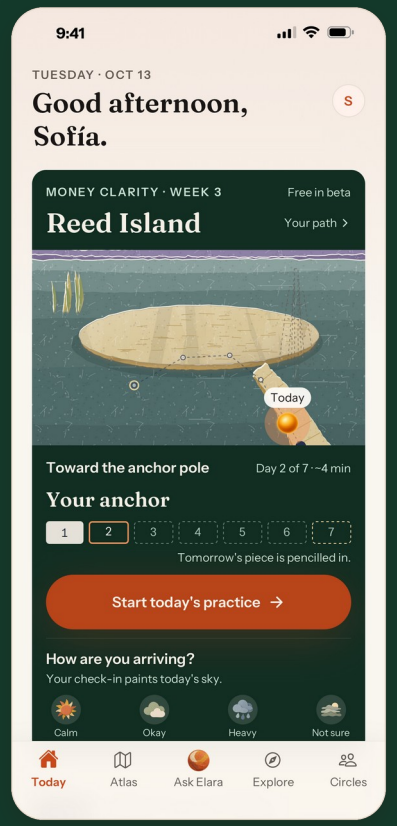

Elara gives her one small step a day, and each step moves her somewhere she can see.

Mist Meadow · current design

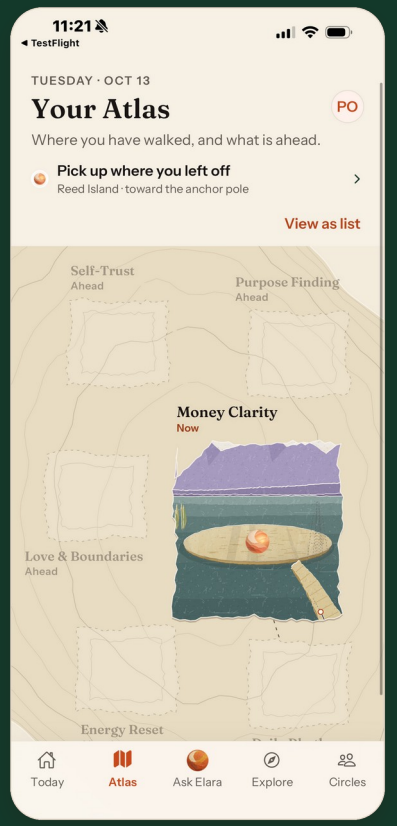

A daily path, with company along the way.

Today gives her a next step. Atlas keeps the journey visible. Ask Elara and Circles help her work through it.

One path.
Five distinct worlds.

Money Clarity is designed as a five-week journey. Each week has a world; each day moves her through it.

World artwork is the current design. Week 3, Reed Island, is visible in TestFlight.

She can pick up where she left off.

Today keeps her place on the path and puts the next practice within reach.

Ask Elara can help her talk through the question with context from her ongoing journey.

Today and the Ask Elara tab: in TestFlight · Ask Elara shown in current design

Small private rooms built around a shared question.

Up to ten women. Their words stay with the room, and a weekly question gives them a reason to return.

No likes, no counts, no public feed.

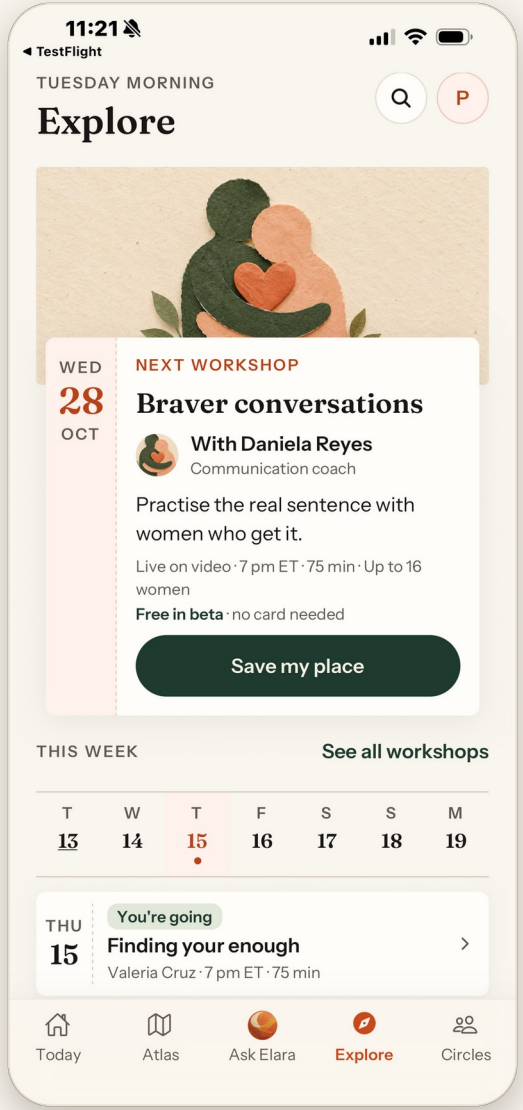

Current design, in development · room formation and scale still being tested

Trusted voices, in her daily routine.

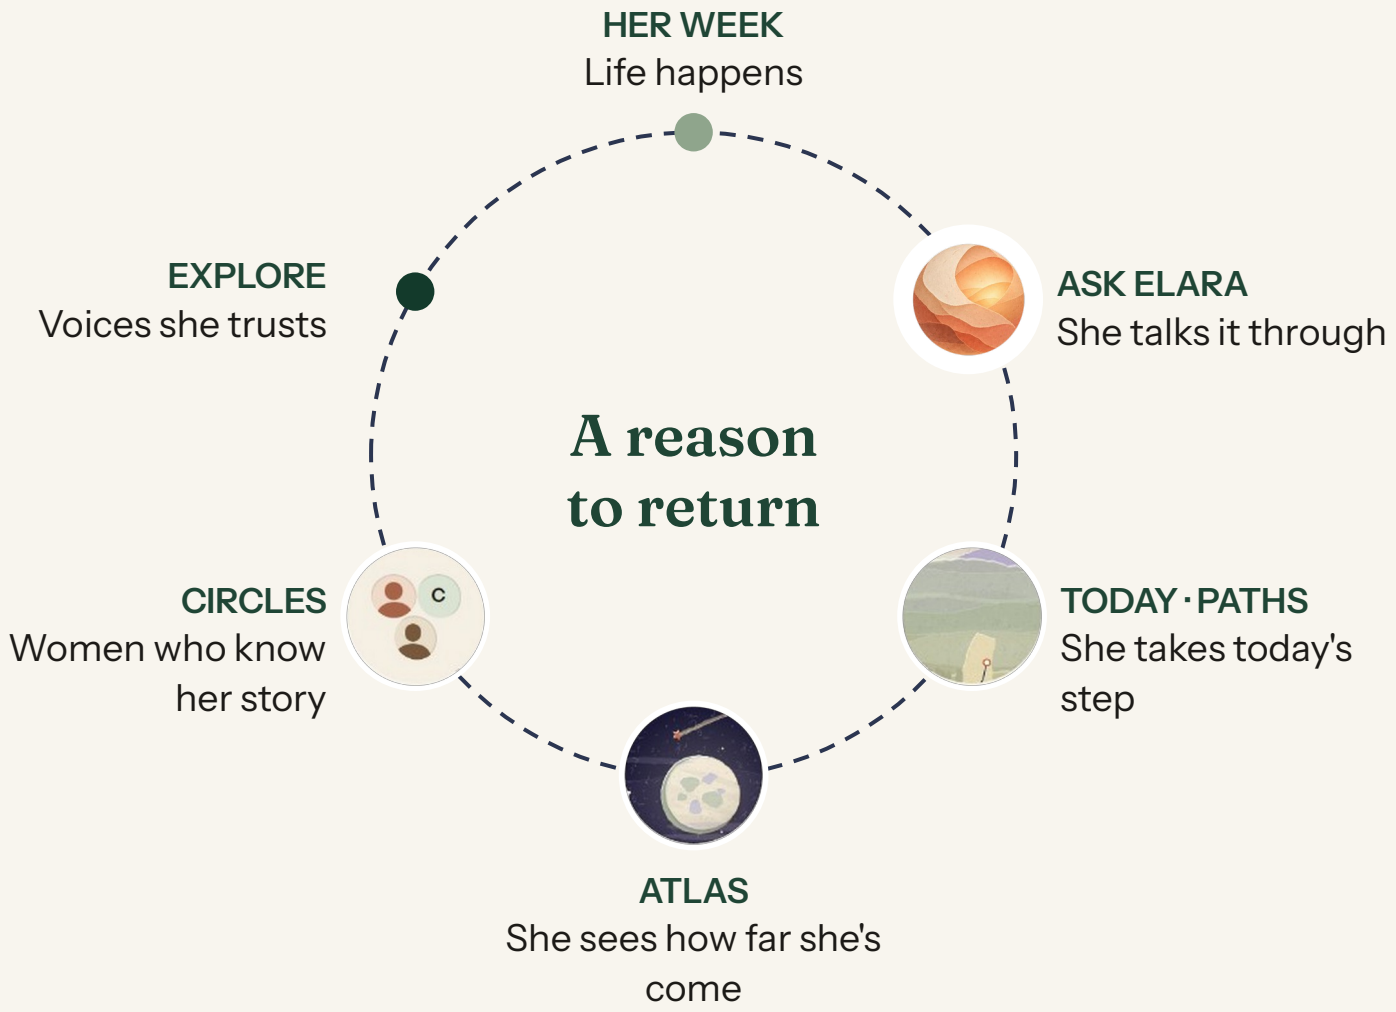

Explore brings short guidance and live workshops alongside her path.

Next: browsing workshops day by day, with the next date shown when a day is empty.

Explore: in TestFlight · day-by-day browsing in development · hosts and events illustrative

She comes back for continuity, not streaks.

Each part gives her a reason to open Elara tomorrow. No points, no badges.

Retention hypothesis to validate

Trust can become a distribution engine.

THE CORE MODEL

A free first week, then membership.

The founding beta is free. The planned model keeps the first week of a path open; membership supports the deeper journey.

LATER

Paid workshops and live creator experiences in Explore.

The Overlook

IN TESTFLIGHT Next proof: activation, movement into Week 2, repeat use, and willingness to pay.

Positioning: a trusted voice, with context that can keep growing.

WHAT CONTEXT CHANGES

A money practice can acknowledge family obligations alongside her own goals for independence.

APPROACHES · CONCEPTUAL

General-purpose AI tools	Adaptive · generic
General content libraries	Static · generic
Creator guides and courses	Static · culturally specific
Elara (intended)	Adaptive · culturally specific

STARTING ADVANTAGES

Creator trust
An existing audience and community.

Cultural context
Built first for Spanish-speaking / Latina women.

Adaptive AI
Designed to carry context across guidance and reflection.

Community
Shared circles alongside personal guidance.

Elara's intended position. Conceptual, not a performance comparison. From the September 2026 deck.

The next 90 days.

Bring the existing community into Elara in waves, then test whether the guided path gives them a reason to return.

MONTH 1

Invite and learn

Invite beta sign-ups in waves.

Learn: onboarding completion and the first practice.

MONTH 2

Build continuity

Pair a familiar challenge with Today, Atlas, and Circles.

Learn: return visits and Week 2 entry.

MONTH 3

Test the offer

Use evidence from the first cohorts to refine membership and the free-to-paid boundary.

Learn: repeat use and willingness to pay.

Engagement hypothesis to validate: monthly challenge → personal reflection → relevant next step → next challenge

Illustrative sequence. Existing email sign-ups are not active users. Timing, engagement and paid conversion remain to be validated.
